

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service! I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety and security. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

I'd like to add that these types of unfair tax hikes are destroying our economy, since it's working people who are again expected to pick up the check. Frankly, working people are taxed nearly to poverty and this tax will only add to the burden. Not only is it unfair, it lunacy. The constant trend of hitting the consumer with more and more taxes and fees and hidden costs only removes money from the economy.

Sincerely,

Teresa Allison
